

The Animal Farm, Faculty Vet. Farm, Newsletter

January-June 2013

Inside this issue:

- Recent news and events
- Vet farm acquires a new maize planter

Foreward

The Faculty, Vet Farm, Kanyariri is pleased to publish the first Issue of its newsletter. This newsletter is an avenue of communication between the farm and society.

Over the past few months, the Vet farm has been involved in several activities. Among these are tree planting, expansion of fields for fodder production and development of its 2013-2018 Strategic plan.

Dr. Abuom T.O.
Farm Manager

Dr.
Abuom T.O.
Farm Manager

Recent News and Events

1. Staff from the Vet farm has recently attended a workshop at the Kenya School of Monetary Studies to develop its 2013-2018 strategic plan.
2. In April 2013, over 10,000 tree seedlings were planted at the Old farm at the Vet farm, Kanyariri as part of efforts to conserve the environment.
3. On the 19th and 20th June 2013, Vet farm staff attended a skills enhancement workshop on Performance enhancement and Team building.
4. Over 20 Bachelor of Veterinary Medicine students reported to the vet Farm In June 2013 to start their 8 week attachment

Acquisition of a new planter

The Vet farm recently acquired a 4 row maize planter. This machine is meant to make the planting of maize more efficient and timely.

The overall effect is that there will be more maize available every season for making silage.

Bachelor of Veterinary Medicine
Students on attachment at the Vet farm

Editorial Team.

1. Dr. Abuom T.O.
2. Dr. Cheruiyot L.
3. Mr. Q. Pacho
4. Mr. W. Kongere